

AccuFund Privacy Policy

Introduction and Overview

AccuFund, Inc. (“AccuFund”) believes everyone has a right to privacy. Privacy is an important part of the value that we deliver to our customers.

Scope of this Privacy Statement and our role

As a technology company, we’re providing this Privacy Statement (which we’ll refer to as the “Statement”) to explain how we collect, use, and share information when you interact with us and our offerings and services. This Statement is global in nature, meaning that it is applicable to all of our products, subscriptions and services, regardless of where accessed, and it describes our privacy practices when we process:

- a) Personal information for the purposes of providing the benefits of any AccuFund products, subscriptions or services (collectively, the “Products”); and/or
 - b) Personal information as necessary to manage, run and improve our business.
- AccuFund determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal information (“Information Controller”). AccuFund may share your personal data with any of its affiliates, parents, or subsidiaries to process as joint controllers for the purposes set out in this Statement. If you have any questions about the processing of your personal data, please contact us at the address provided below.

This Statement does not apply where AccuFund processes personal information as a service provider on behalf of a customer or entity who acts as the Information Controller. When we act as a service provider, the privacy statement of the relevant Information Controller and our agreements with such business or entity will govern our processing of personal information.

In certain circumstances, there may be more than one Information Controller processing your information. For example, your employer or a financial partner may also act as an Information Controller. In these situations, we act as an independent Information Controller over our processing activities, meaning that we make determinations over how your personal information will be processed independently from the other Information Controller. The other Information Controller may have their own obligations under applicable information privacy law, and you may need to speak with the other Information Controller directly for questions on how they process your personal information.

The AccuFund Products

The AccuFund Products and your information

When we say “Products” we mean that when you choose to share data with us, we use that data together, not just within the individual offering(s) you’re using. The personal information we use in this centralized way is all the information that AccuFund knows about you. It includes your credentials; your name and contact details; payment information; information about your activities, your interests and preferences; insights about your finances or your business; the content you place in our Products; and information we have collected about you from third-party sources.

Organizational account information

Some services within the AccuFund Products allow you to interact with an organization (such as your employer). If you are granted access to an organization or household account, the owner of the organization or a designated administrator may control and administer details of your account, for example, by deciding your access rights; making decisions about your personal information; or requiring you to take certain actions. If your access rights are amended by the owner or designated administrator, then you may lose access to the information that is in the control of the organization.

Your use of the AccuFund Products as part of an organization's account may be subject to the organization's policies, which may be different from this Statement. We are not responsible for the privacy or security practices of other organizations, and you should consider both the organization's policies and whether you are comfortable enabling the organization with access to your information prior to connecting to their services.
